

History

A family run manufacturer since the 1800s, Plastair is proud of its linear heritage. What started out as dominance in the rubber industry has migrated into plastic extrusion, where for the past generation we have manufactured top grade consumer packaged goods and industrial products.

Emerging as an industry leader in coiled water hoses and air hoses, as well as lightweight flexible straight tubing, we have successfully moved into a wide array of markets across North America.

Ever growing and committed to manufacturing excellence, we constantly strive to acquire further technology and technical know-how to create truly unique products in the marketplace that will be advantageous for our customers. Our vertically integrated manufacturing, distribution and packaging processes, enables us to adapt very quickly to the changes and demands of consumer needs.

We look forward to the challenge of domestically manufacturing top grade products at competitive prices, and are continually evolving with innovation and efficiency to maintain and further future success.

Auto-Untwist and Self-Straighten

KISS Hose's unique design is engineered to eliminate tangles and twists. As you pull the hose across your yard, it automatically straightens itself out, eliminating kinks and tangles that can obstruct water flow.

Traditional hoses kink & tangle

KISS Hose will NOT Kink!

Kink Resistant

KISS hose's corrugated design provides exceptional flexibility and allows the hose to bend easily without kinking. It maintains maximum water flow even when the hose is bent in half.
